Masonic Temple Opened.

Yesterday was a big day for Edmonton and district Freemasons, when the new Masonic hall in Edmonton was opened in due ceremony. Meridian Lodge, from Stony Plain, under the leadership of Worshipful Master R. A. Walton, was present in full force, and took part in the proceeding. Following the opening of the Temple in due form, a banquet at the Macdonald hotel was given, at which all who had taken part in the ceremonies in the afternoon attended.

Rev. Sauder Not to Leave.

The Edmonton Journal recently printed an item in the United Church Conference news, stating that Rev H G Rice had been appointed to the charge at Stony Plain. This was, no doubt, due to a clerical error, as there had been no intention of having a change made at the local United church.

Changes are usually made on the application of the incumbent or the congregation; and neither of these had occurred in this case. It is understood that Rev Rice will continue at the appointment at Telfordville, where he has been stationed for several years.

Rev W J Whelan, at one time stationed at Stony, and more recent at Kitscoty, has now gone to the Hardisty United church.

Fire at Gus Mintz's.

On Friday afternoon about 4 o'clock, when the northwest wind was blowing fairly strong, lighted tinder from a fire on the south side of the nuisance grounds is said to have set fire to the cow barn on the Gus Mintz three-acre plot on Outway ave. There was no one home at the time the barn caught fire, and the blaze spread to the adjoining granary and pig sty. By this time some passers by who noticed the blaze sent an alarm up town and the fire brigade and a bunch of volunteers hurried down with the fire-fighting apparatus. By their combined efforts, Mr Mintz's house was saved; but not before one of the fire fighters who was on the roof, Butcher Karl, from the Heukel Meat Emporium, had run a chance of getting killed by falling from the roof to the ground.

Mr Mintz's loss includes 2 heavy hogs which were burned in the pen; about 50 bush. of whole and crushed grain. The buildings contained a quantity of valuable material—a new circular saw, a new $65 threshing belt and other threshing equipment and tools, and tractor parts. The total loss will amount to over $1200.

For the past month Mr Mintz has been employed at a sawmill in the Wildwood district, and returned home on Sunday, in answer to a telegram.

Insurance Against Depression

A newspaper published on the Pacific Coast prints the following note received by it from a worker in lumber camps: "You need not worry about me. I have worked many years in the logging camps, saved my earnings. Now, during the depression, I am able to get along on three meals a day and a good place to sleep. I am a naturalized citizen. I will vote for the things that make my adopted country a better place to live in."

Commenting on this statement, a magazine writer says it would be difficult to condense the principles of sound economics and good citizenship into smaller space. Let us analyze it a bit.

In the year's when work was plentiful this industrious woodsman labored and saved, for his common sense told him that fat years and lean years had alternated throughout the known history of man. They did in Egypt in the days of Joseph, when amid the scorching of the masses he stored up grain during seven fat years as insurance against the succeeding seven lean years. Ordinary prudence told this Pacific Coast woodsman that in storing up from the surplus of the fat years he, too, would be able to meet the deficiency of the lean ones.

This woodsman had nothing but his labor to sell, so he sold it at a profit when the market was brisk and saved the profit to provide for his needs when the market should be dull. And "depression" finds him living comfortably and free from worry. He can afford to wait in philosophy patience for the sure advent of another period of fat years.

And, after all, who of us is really differently situated than is this woodsman? What, in the final analysis, has any person to sell but his or her labor? And having sold that labor in times when it is in demand and well paid for, whether in wages, or profitable production from farms, or turnover in business it surely is the sane and sensible policy, in fact the duty, of the laborer to "save" against the day when there comes a decline in demand for his services and a resultant decline or stoppage in current income or profit.

Everybody but the wholly improvident and thoughtless insure themselves today against sickness, accident, death and old age. They insure their homes, businesses and belongings against possible loss by fire or other catastrophe. They regard these steps as not only wise, but a duty they owe to themselves and their families. In like manner, is it not the part of wisdom, and a duty, in the fat years of earning power to "save" against the lean years which the whole history of man teaches us will inevitably come?

In all the volumes, and essays, and speeches, and editorials, and articles that have been written or spoken on economic topics, in all the speculations as to causes and cures for the present "depression," can any one find a surer specific for economic comfort and independence than that offered by this hard-headed, straight-thinking woodsman? Out of the abundant fat years lay up a store to bridge the shortage of the lean ones. It is simply the old, classic preventive of Industry and Thrift properly balanced. And whenever it has been applied it has worked.

Winnipeg Building Permits

Winnipeg building permits for the month of April totalled $1,040,350, compared with $858,150 for April, 1930. The total of building permits for Greater Winnipeg to date show an increase of $60,000 over 1930.

Uniform Signs For Europe

Roadside warning signs in all Europe will be uniform if the countries accept the system adopted at the European Conference on Road Traffic which recently met at Geneva. Danger signs will be triangular, stop signs circular, and information signs rectangular. Should all the countries adopt it the change will mean the scrapping of thousands of signs now in use.

Made Interesting Flight

Professor Believes It Will Revolutionize Theories About Stratosphere

The London Daily Express, in a telephone interview with Professor Auguste Piccard, "stratosphere" balloonist, quotes him as saying that the results of his flight "are likely to revolutionize all previous theories concerning the stratosphere."

"The flight proved that the stratosphere is navigable," the Professor is quoted as having said, "and that man with modern technical methods will be able to master its low pressure and its cold."

Recovered from their perilous thrust into the upper reaches of the sky, Dr. Auguste Piccard has started compiling his scientific data, while Charles Kipfer, his assistant, took a three-hour climb to recover their balloon from the glacier in which it came to rest.

Dr. Piccard said, in conversation with Austrian newspapermen, that the stratosphere, which he claimed to have penetrated in an ascent of more than 50,000 feet, was the only practicable element for long distance aviation.

"This can be done, however," he said, "only if the cabins are as airtight as our gondola was."

Information received at Innsbruck, Austria, from Professor Auguste Piccard said that he and his companion, Charles Kipfer, suffered greatly from thirst during their balloon flight into the stratosphere.

They were forced to scrape the frozen moisture from their breath of the walls of the aluminum cage, the report said, and to melt and drink it.

"The fact that we carried a double supply of oxygen saved our lives," he said. "On landing we found there was left only sufficient for one hour more."

Believes Jazz Age Dying

F. Scott Fitzgerald, the novelist who gave the jazz age its name and "discovered" the flapper, believes that the age of jazz has ended, according to a letter received from him by his publishers, Scribners. Fitzgerald said the jazz age lasted ten years from the suppression of the May Day riots in 1919 to the stock market crash in 1929.

Canada's Automobile Output Is Higher

At End Of April Production Showed Substantial Increase

Automobile production shot upward in Canada during April. With a total output of 17,159 cars, the daily average of 572 cars was 37 per cent. higher than in March, although only about one-half the average during April 1930.

The index number of production computed by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, which started the new year at 60 per cent. below normal, was at the end of April only 26 per cent. below normal.

Think Salaries Too Low

Civil Service Federation Holds Wage Paid Are Inadequate

Holding that the civil service salaries are inadequate, the Civil Service Federation of Canada, at the opening session of its 14th national convention in Ottawa, considered the report of its executive committee outlining plans for continued efforts to secure more adequate pay through-out the government service. The executive reported active preparation of the case for the service for higher pay to be laid before the Beatty Royal Commission.

Serious Problems Now Facing Agriculturists Of The West Considered At Ottawa Meeting

Western Canadian agriculturists are drifting into peasant proprietorship, the Canadian Political Science Association, in annual meeting at Ottawa, was told by Henry Spencer, M.P., in the discussions following several papers on agricultural problems.

A suggestion that diversified farming for the home market, protected by tariffs, as against specialized production for the foreign market, was not received with approval by western economists who spoke. One Manitoba expert pointed out the water shortage, while others dealt with uncertain market conditions. It was stated that mortgage companies were faced with the problem of continuing farms thrown on their hands. They did not want to put in tenant farmers; they were financial, not agriculture concerns.

Mr. Spencer said the only way mixed farming in the west could expand was by guaranteed prices for the products. But in the west was now 12 cents a pound, and eggs 5 cents a dozen.

Taxation of farm lands was also discussed. The farmer, it was said, paid more than his share of taxes; his wages were lowest of all and the only way out for some farmers seemed to be through the bankruptcy court.

C. G. Coote, M.P., said the only way out was a revision of the monetary system. He questioned whether it was wise to continue the gold standard. The banks might have to be generous enough to reduce interest rates from nine to four per cent.

Prof. Macintosh, of Queen's University, declared the farmers' income would have to be raised and all the economists who took part in the discussion emphasized the need for research in the agricultural industry.

Mr. Coote thought there had perhaps been too much research in production and not enough in seeking to ensure a fair return to the farmer.

"The farmers of Canada are—willingly or unwillingly—providing cheap food for the rest of the country without paying wages to themselves comparable to wages in other industries. The artisan gets over a dollar an hour—the farmer less than 25 cents an hour."

Prof. J. E. Latimer, of Macdonald College, thus informed the gathering. He declared this situation explained the lack of purchasing power and the slowness of collections which rendered the difficulties of the farming business.

The farmer and his family put in overtime, night work, Sunday work—but the recompense did not mean more than 22½ cents an hour. The yearly earnings of employees in agriculture amounted to only 55 per cent. of the general average of earnings in manufacturing.

Prof. Latimer declared, however, that the present depression was not merely a post-war development. Among the factors he held to be involved were: increased commercialization of farming; greater specialization in the industry; greater use of machinery; local organization of the industry and the greater influence of violent fluctuations in the general price level on farming than on other industries.

Prof. R. W. Murchie, of Manitoba Agricultural College, discussed the sociological aspects of the agricultural problem and deplored the prevalence of social sociologists and rural social uplifters.

Six standard text books on rural sociology, said "Thrift is characteristic of the rural people." Prof. Murchie contended the opportunity to spend was the test of thrift and the farmer had little money.

The fundamental sociological problem at present was the establishment of a truly scientific attitude toward rural social phenomena, he held.

Crop Yields Count

Correct Methods Of Soil Management Are Essential

"In all branches of farming whether it be stock raising, grain growing, mixed farming, orcharding, or market gardening, the degree of success resulting therefrom will depend primarily on the crop yields obtained. While seasonal factors—rainfall and its distribution, temperature, etc.—have a determinative influence on yields, correct methods of soil management and the presence of available plant food are essential to maximum production," writes Dr. Frank T. Shutt, M.A., D.Sc., in Department of Agriculture bulletin No. 145-N.S. "Manures and Fertilizers—Their Nature, Functions and Application." This bulletin treats concisely with all the important phases of the subject; farm manures, their nature, care and application; green manures, their value and function; commercial fertilizers, their plant food content and economical use; and soil amendments.

German Method Is Thorough

The latest method of cleaning railway coaches is that used in Germany. The coach is run into a huge air-tight cylinder into which is pumped a strong disinfectant gas. The carriage remains in the gas long enough to allow it to penetrate every chink and corner, so that all harmful bacteria are killed.

Research Is Yielding Interesting Result Revenue May Be Derived From Refuse Screenings At Grain Elevators

New uses for surpluses of wheat and other grain are being made the subject of an exhaustive survey by the National Research Council of Canada. Two researches initiated are already yielding interesting results. One of these is a study of the refuse screenings, largely weed seeds, which accumulate at the grain elevators at the head of the Great Lakes to the extent of more than 50,000 tons a year. At present these screenings, if marketable at all, fetch almost nothing. The research is already indicating that they could be made to yield products—oil for soap-making, fertilizer and possibly feed—which would make them distinctly valuable.

In the other research a beginning has been made on the problem of finding methods of utilizing straw. The total amount of straw grown in Canada each year aggregates about 50,000,000 tons, most of which is wasted. A careful study of the possibilities of using surplus grain for the manufacture of fuel, alcohol, starch, dextrine, glucose, and other sugars, acids and lacquer solvents by means of fermentation, oils, etc., is being made. This includes a study not only of the technical but also of the economic aspects.

Two Ontario Cities Celebrate

Kingston and Hamilton Have Passed Their Eighty-Fifth Birthdays

Two of Ontario's finest cities have celebrated the eighty-fifth anniversary of their cityhood. Kingston was incorporated as a city on May 18, 1848; Hamilton on June 9 of the same year. It is being said of Kingston that it is "Ontario's oldest city." In the strict sense of cityhood, this is not the case, for Toronto was incorporated as a city on March 6, 1834, and in a few years will be a centenarian. But Kingston is much the older settlement. Although Bruce journeyed the Humber in 1615 and, staidly on what is now Toronto soil, was the first white man to view Lake Ontario, there was no trading post on the Toronto site until 1749, when the French established Fort Frontenac. But Frontenac established Fort Frontenac at Cataract (now Kingston) in 1673.

Farmers Buy Pullets

A new factor in the poultry outlook at the present time, as reported by the Poultry Division of the Dominion Live Stock Branch, is the extent to which farmers in many parts of Canada are now buying six, eight and ten week old pullet chicks. With the unprecedented slaughter of laying fowl and pullets, which is still going on all over the Dominion, the demand for replacement stock which will come into production in October and November is increasing.

Valuable Fish By-Products

Of the various by-products of fish, including fish meal, fish oil, fertilizer, herring scales for pearl essence, poultry grit, glue, whalebone, the 1929 production value was $3,100,000, according to the Fisheries News Bulletin.

Perhaps it may be rather an extreme claim that "Canada" should be credited with the distinction of being the first nation in modern history to take a census of its inhabitants, few of whom, at that day, were greatly concerned with the doings of the actual government. But it appears to be undoubted that the French authorities in charge of the affairs of the colony, then known as "New France," for their own information and reasons did, in the year 1668, undertake a systematic registration of the then European inhabitants, each one being recorded by name. The compilation also stated the age, sex, place of residence, occupation and conjugal condition of each person. According to the Brandon Sun, the original is extant in the archives of Paris, a transcript being available at Ottawa. It would be interesting to know just why this "census" was undertaken, certainly it is unlikely that its originator realized just what he had the opportunity to do. It would be regarded long after he had passed away.

This initial Canadian census, the Sun continues, was repeated several times during the French regime. After its disappearance a series of less elaborate investigations by successive governors took its place. The first legislation on the subject was an act of the United Provinces, dated 1847. Under it a census of Upper and Lower Canada was taken in 1851 and again in 1861. Censuses of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick were taken in the same years. An account of these and of preceding investigations may be found in Volume IV, of the report of the census of 1871, a volume designed to start the new Dominion on its career with a review of all previous statistics relating to its domain. Comprehensive censuses under the act of Confederation have followed every tenth year, namely in 1881, 1891, 1901, 1911 and 1921.

Prizes For Remounts

To Stimulate Interest In the Breeding Of Horses Of The Right Type

Major the Hon. Robt. Weir, Federal Minister of Agriculture, has authorized the payment of monies totalling $325 to owners of horses used by Canadian cavalry units during the 1931 training season to be distributed as prizes to be awarded on suitability of horses for army remount purposes. Each regiment will be allocated $25 in prize money to be awarded in the form of a first prize of $10 and a second of $10, while a suitable ribbon will designate third placing. The object of these awards is to stimulate interest in the breeding of horses of a type which has been proven generally satisfactory for all-round purposes.

British Navy Keeps To Oil

Efforts to induce the British Admiralty to assist the coal industry by recovering some of the ships in the navy from oil to coal fuel have failed. The change was voted down at a recent meeting in London, England, of minor M.P.'s and representatives of mining companies. It also was strongly urged that the coal industry should be helped by the development of the processes of distilling oil from coal.

Model Locomotive Attracts Attention

The scale model engine, shown in the above picture, is an exact replica of one of the Canadian Pacific Railway's "2800" type fast passenger locomotives and attracted considerable attention at the model railway exhibition, recently held in Central Hall, Westminster, London, England. Built for the company, in England, the model is 14 feet long and weighs half a ton. It is constructed to the scale of 2 inches to one foot and is finished in correct C.P.R. colors. The young "engineer" in the picture seems to be enjoying his tenure of office and, doubtless, knows how to run the engine, which is a complete working machine, with all that is necessary to convey a realistic representation of its powerful original.

WILL FIND A WAY TO BUILD TRANS-CANADA HIGHWAY

Ottawa, Ont.—Before long the government hopes to have a satisfactory solution to the problem of building a trans-Canada highway. Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, told the House of Commons. It was too soon, he said, to charge the government with failure to keep its election promises.

Dr. Manion was speaking in the debate on the highway started by J. A. Bradette (Lib., Timiskaming North) on a motion to go into supply.

Neither Mr. Bradette nor Hon. Peter Heenan, former Minister of Labor, had been consistent in their attitude towards the highway, said Dr. Manion. When the Liberal Government had been in power a motion had come before the House urging the government to make grants towards the construction of highways and both Mr. Heenan and Mr. Bradette had voted against it. They were in no position to accuse the present government of breaking its pledges so early in its term of office.

"It did not accuse you of breaking your pledges," said Mr. Heenan. "I merely asked you to fulfill them."

"The question of the trans-Canada highway is a very big question. It has not been overlooked. The government has it under consideration and we hope before long to have a satisfactory solution."

The record of the Liberal party had been consistent in matters of grants to provinces, declared Mr. Hon. Mackenzie King, adding it might have resulted in some political losses. When assuming office in 1921, deficits in the treasury were encountered, necessitating economy if the budgets were to be balanced and debt and taxation reduced. In one direction, this was done, namely, by refusing grants and aids to provinces in addition to the subsidies fixed at confederation.

"I am not opposed to subsidies to provinces," exclaimed the Liberal leader, "but I am opposed to the use of money being voted by this parliament to the provinces in addition to those subsidies." Such extra grants never were contemplated by the fathers of confederation.

"Where will the end be?" asked Mr. King, as he enumerated the grants paid during the past 10 years to the provinces in addition to the regular subsidies. They were for agricultural instruction, to encourage unemployment offices, to encourage highway construction and technical education, combating disease, relieving unemployment; the old age pension scheme. The total was $57,900,000. During that time, the statutory subsidies paid by the Dominion to the provinces amounted to $150,000,000. "The principle of the old age pension scheme is thoroughly sound. In order to get such sums in operation, I was prepared at that time to support the principle of grants to the provinces, which, I admit, is unsound."

The time had come, Mr. King repeated, when the federal parliament should vote 100 per cent. of the cost of the pension scheme, and centre administration in Ottawa. In his budget recently, Premier Bennett had continued this "unsound principle" of the federal treasury assuming a proportion—75 per cent.—of the scheme.

Grain Shipments For May Were Higher

Larger Quantities Shipped Overseas Than In Previous Months

Fort William, Ont.—Canada's hold on foreign wheat markets remained firm through May, the Dominion shipping larger quantities overseas than in any month for more than a year. Clearances during the last week, according to the weekly report on grain movement by E. A. Ursell, statistician to the Dominion Board of Grain Commissioners, amounted to 6,853,553 bushels and swelled the five-week total to 34,180,796 bushels.

In the last two years 13,000,000 Russian illiterates have been taught to read and write.

Itinerary Of Air Pageant

Planes On Trans-Canada Tour Leave Hamilton July 1

Kingston, Ont.—Dominion's great trans-Canada air pageant will begin on July 1, when more than 50 planes will leave Hamilton to commence the 7,700-mile tour of Canada, and will wind up at the Toronto Canadian National Exhibition, according to official announcement by Marshal M. Foss, publicity and show manager of the air pageant, sponsored by the Canadian Flying Clubs' Association.

The official itinerary as announced by Mr. Foss gave dates on which the armada will reach cities in the west as follows: July 7, Minneapolis; July 8, Winnipeg; July 10, Brandon; July 11, show at Winnipeg; July 13, show at Regina; July 14 and 15, Moose Jaw; July 16, Medicine Hat; July 17 and 18, Calgary; July 19, Lethbridge; July 20, Vancouver via Grand Forks, with show at Vancouver; July 26, Lethbridge; July 28, Edmonton; July 31, Saskatoon via North Battleford; August 1, show at Saskatoon; August 3, show at Winnipeg; August 6 and 7, show at Fort William.

Duty On Magazines

Educational, Religious and Scientific Publications To Be Exempted

Ottawa, Ont.—Officials of the Department of National Revenue will consider each magazine coming into Canada, and decide which shall be exempted from the 15 cents a pound duty which will be imposed under the provisions of the budget. The duty does not come into effect until July 1. The magazines to be exempted as defined by Premier R. B. Bennett will be educational, scientific and religious. The list prepared by the department will be submitted to the cabinet for final acceptance.

Some magazines coming into Canada weigh over a pound per copy, and, in some cases, the duty will be more than the present cost of the magazine. With magazines totalling several million copies coming in every year, the taxes from this source should be considerable.

The New Taxes

Postage Increase Comes Into Effect On July First

Ottawa, Ont.—The new taxes imposed by the Bennett budget come into force on the following dates: New customs tariff effective midnight, June 1.

Sales tax effective midnight, June 1.

Corporation tax effective on income for 1930.

Income tax effective on 1931 incomes.

Excise tax on foreign investments in Canada effective July 1.

Postage increase, July 1.

Postal rate on newspapers, July 1.

Stamp tax on cheques, July 1.

Insurance policy tax, October 1.

Income Tax Changes

Changes With Two Exceptions Based On Next Year's Taxes

Ottawa, Ont.—All the income tax changes brought down in the budget are applicable to next year's taxes based on this year's income, with two exceptions. It was explained by the Department of National Revenue. In the case of the increase in the rate from eight to ten per cent. on the income for corporations and joint stock companies, the additional two per cent. will have to be paid on the returns already in, based on last year's income. The other exception is a tax of two per cent. collected at their source on dividends payable to non-resident shareholders. This comes into force on July 1 next.

Export Market For Butter

Good Market For Butter and Cheese In Great Britain

Montreal, Quebec.—Canada will have a good butter and cheese export business with Great Britain this year, according to F. W. McLagan, Montreal butter and cheese exporter, who has just returned from a visit to Great Britain.

There was a place for Canadian butter in England, he declared, and as the market was not overlanded and as long as Canadian prices and quality were right, he thought that there would be steady sales throughout the 1931 season.

Empress Greeted By Notable Canadians

Governor-General Attends Dinner Given On New C.P.R. Liner

Quebec, Que.—To join with the Prime Minister and many other distinguished citizens of the Dominion, in the general welcome which has been extended to the "Empress of Britain" on her arrival in Canadian waters, the Governor-General paid a visit to Quebec and attended a dinner held on the vessel on June 3.

President E. W. Beatty, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, presided over a company numbering some 500 which included, in addition to His Excellency and the Prime Minister, Sir Robert Borden, Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, Hon. Hanford MacNide, United States minister to the Dominion, Sir William Clark, British minister at Ottawa, Hon. E. Lapointe, Premier L. A. Taschereau, Sir Joseph Flavelle, Sir Herbert Holt.

Lord Bessborough, commenting on the initial performance of the "Empress of Britain," said the "Empress" had proved herself mistress of the high seas and had entered the new world by one of the greatest and most spectacular highways.

Ottawa Honors King George

Ottawa, Ont.—The capital was in holiday dress June 3 in honor of His Majesty King George, who was celebrating his 56th birthday. Parliament Hill was almost deserted, the House of Commons and the Senate having taken a day off. All government departments were closed, as were also schools and many business establishments. A royal salute of 21 guns boomed out at 12 o'clock noon.

MOUNTAIN PEAKS BECKON ALPINE CLUB

Among the mountain peaks that will beckon to Alpine Club campers this summer are the Tower of Babel (right), reflected in beautiful Moraine Lake; the craggy summits above Lake O'Hara which invite the intrepid (left), and picturesque Eagle's Eyrie (centre), just a step from Prospector's Valley, where camp will be struck. Standing stark against the sun, the Eagle's Eyrie is startlingly like the head of a bird, but fashioning in stone, serves merely to provide shade where mountaineers halt to drink tea.

Trade With New Zealand

British Columbia Anxious For Commencement Of New Agreement

Victoria, B.C.—"It is important in the interest of our export trade that a new agreement with New Zealand be consummated in the near future," F. C. Brown, chairman of the British Columbia division, said in presenting his report to the convention of the Canadian Manufacturers Association. New Zealand's action in withdrawing the British preference from Canada, combined with the Canadian budget provision placing a duty on tin plate, would hit the canned salmon industry hard, the speaker said. Mr. Brown's address forcibly directed the attention of the manufacturers across the Pacific. He was hoping from day to day to see announcement of the conclusion of a new agreement with Australia which would continue the present preference on paper, fish, and lumber, and extend that on October. Since the termination last October, of the agreement with New Zealand, trade with that dominion had fallen off rapidly.

The report of the prairie division, read by Arnold Smith, Winnipeg, said "the courageous manner in which our agricultural population has prepared for another crop should be a very definite corrective to those fatalists who appear to think that our economic fabric is irrevocably damaged."

"It is more than likely, that the position of our overseas markets for grain and farm produce will steadily improve."

R. J. Hutchings, Calgary, said the farmers were bucking down to putting in a crop at half the price of late years, due to the cost of seed and other elements. The prairies, he declared, were going to maintain their position of growing the best wheat and supplying it to the world markets.

Negotiations Being Carried On Between Vatican and Italian State

Rome, Italy.—Secret negotiations to break the deadlock between the Holy See and the Italian state in the present crisis is in progress.

Following the closing of Catholic youth clubs by the Italian Government, it was learned from a good source that conversations are being conducted by Cardinal Gasparri, who signed the Lateran treaty and concordat in 1929 with Premier Mussolini.

U.S. Debt Increases

Washington, D.C.—After government finances had been discussed by President Hoover and his cabinet the White House announced the national debt would be increased $500,000,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, because of falling revenue and increased expenditures.

DEPORTATION BILL IS OPPOSED BY MINISTER

Ottawa, Ont.—A measure preventing the deportation from Canada of persons who have been resident here more than ten years, was "talked out" in the House of Commons. The bill, which came up on second reading, under the sponsorship of J. S. Woodsworth (Labour, Winnipeg North Centre), may possibly be reached again this season.

From Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Immigration and Colonization came a clear and emphatic statement in opposition to the proposal. The effect of the bill, Mr. Gordon declared, would be to destroy sections of the Immigration Act for the deportation of prohibitory classes, including idiots, imbeciles, insane and feeble-minded persons, diseased persons, people of unsound character, and other physically or mentally deficient.

Dealing with "prohibitive classes," Mr. Gordon remarked that migrants who became mental cases in Canada were looked after by the Dominion Government, but the burden fell upon the municipalities and the provinces. The provinces of Canada, had expended millions upon millions of dollars for the care of these people. Ontario, with which Mr. Gordon was most familiar, had invested some thirty-eight million dollars of capital expenditure in institutions to take care of the sick and afflicted at the present time. Canada's neighbor to the south had many thousands of cases with which the Department of Immigration is dealing every day, who, if we let down the bars, would be sent back to Canada, where they have no right to come."

Mr. Gordon emphasized the deportations were only ordered after the fullest inquiry. Many people of a splendid type had come to Canada who were an honor today to this country, but there were some within our boundaries who, under careful selection and the discipline of immigration, never would have been permitted to come into Canada.

A. Heaps (Labour, Winnipeg North), who, in the absence of Mr. Woodsworth, moved the second reading, said it was "most unfair" to deport persons from Canada who had been resident here for many years. In recent months many persons, the majority born in Great Britain, had been deported. Some had been here as long as 18 years, had raised families in Canada and, late in life, becoming ill, had become public charges. He believed the 10-year limit suggested in the bill was too long and that five years' residence in Canada would be sufficient. Men and women born outside the British Empire might be naturalized in Canada after five years' residence and escape deportation. This was an injustice to British subjects, he believed.

Duty On Anthracite Coal

Revenue Of $1,250,000 Is Expected From This Source

Ottawa, Ont.—The duty of 40 cents a ton on anthracite coal announced in the budget would result in a revenue of a million and a quarter dollars if the purchases of this type of coal from the United States continues at the same rate as last year. In the calendar year 1930, Canada bought from the United States 3,235,032 tons of anthracite.

The duty on bituminous coal has been increased from 50 cents to 75 cents a ton. Canada imported 13,764,563 tons of bituminous coal last year from the United States, but considerable of it came under the drawback which returns to importers using soft coal for smelting purposes 99 per cent. of the duty.

In the last fiscal year Canada imported from the United States 1,156,363 tons of coke free of duty. Under the new tariff this will carry a duty of a dollar per ton.

Canada Must Win World Championships

World Championships in 1932 will be won by farmers who recognize that the cleanest and best quality seed with the most careful cultivation are essential to the production of exhibition grain. It is recognized that these things should apply to the whole crop area, concentration upon the best plan for securing an exhibit sample. If such a plan is exhibited to extra growers, it is more care probably than it is possible to devote to the whole crop area—and down to the very choicest seed it will not only provide good quality foundation stock for next year's seedling, but a winning sample for exhibition at

"I couldn't get along without you, Uncle Sim. Here's the letter. You'll call me a goose after you've read it. I'll wash away these tears, and I shan't shed any more, I promise."

Better not make no promises," said Simon, as he moved toward the stairs. "Nothin' clears the air like a good cry, 'less it's a thunder storm, and that don't always work, neither."

He went down, and out on the porch, the letter in his hand; but at sight of Halliday, still talking with the children, he crossed the driveway and joined them by the sand pile.

"You got a letter from Janja'y?" he questioned.

"Why, no," Halliday was slightly puzzled at the question. "The fact is, Mr. Bartlett, my wife is the worst correspondent possible. She usually leaves her letters till the last moment, and then misses the mail; so I've learned not to worry when I don't hear. Did Mrs. Hastings get her letter?"

Simon nodded assent.

"Is her husband coming soon?" I thought she wasn't looking well this morning."

"She ain't," said Simon. "She's got to see the doctor this afternoon. I doxy what she says, but I think she's just plain scared." He lowered his voice, a cautious eye on the children. "She most-went out, when little Nick was born, and—maybe you've noticed there another comin' I wish Nick was to home."

"But surely he'll get back as soon as possible. He wouldn't leave her long at a time like this, or—"

"He don't know a thing about it, broke in the old man quickly. "She didn't want he should know till he come back. He hasn't paid up all the bills for his own sickness, and she thought he'd worry and like as not give up goin' at all if he knew what was comin' up ahead. That's why she hurried him off; but she needs him now just to give her courage, and—"

(Uncle Sim cleared his throat a bit uncomfortably). "Well," he hesitated, "she's got a letter to-day, and Nick—well, he's gone off acruisin' in someone's private yacht, along o' your wife. I thought likely you'd heard about the plan."

"With my wife?"

Halliday was all attention.

"Yep," answered Uncle Sim. His eyes apparently on the gorgeous yellow bow that adorned small Martha's curls.

"He'd about made up his mind to come straight home, when Mrs. Halliday blew in with an invitation. I take it some friends o' hers was goin' off to some outlandish places—just the sort o' thing that would tempt a tramp like Nick. I ain't read the letter yet, but I gather he thought he'd oughter not lose the chance. He said they'd drop him somewhere along about a month from now, down Cuby way, where he could get back home. Well, all I got to say is, I hope to God he gets here all right. The sooner the better."

His eyes lifted from the yellow ribbon, to Halliday's face; but the younger man had glanced away.

"Did he say whose yacht they were to go on?"

"Gay said it belonged to some folks that was visitin' your wife last summer. She didn't mention the name."

Halliday looked thoughtful.

"Have they started yet—left Jamaica, I mean?"

"She says they must ha' gone yesterday, or the day before."

"If all these him couldn't we send a wireless?"

"We don't know the name o' the yacht. Gay thinks maybe another letter'll come mailed before they got away. This one was written a week ago."

"Then we must wait. I—I'm sorry that Mrs. Halliday was in any way to blame; but I wish Hastings knew the state of affairs here."

"I wish so too, got darn! I'd half a mind to tell the boy myself, before he went; but I ain't one to meddle. Mr. Halliday, and I thought likely Gay knew her own business. She was thinkin' of what was best for Nick, like she always does. Here she comes now. Don't let I been talkin', or that you see she's been cryin' some. She don't cry very often, but she ain't well, and had sort o' made up her mind he'd be here most any time now."

Gay waved to them cheerfully, but sat down on the porch and took up her sewing. Halliday was silent for a moment, then he said quietly:

"When is her baby coming, Mr. Bartlett?"

"Not till about the first o' September. Oh, Nick'll be back; only she wants him now, and seems like she ought to have him. Still, she wants go pretty quick now, warmer days nave come and she can get about more. It's powerful warm for the middle o' April ain't it? Guess spring's tryin' to make up for the fierce weather we got last winter. You let me know if you hear anything, Mr. Halliday? Maybe you'll get more definite word than what Gay has."

James Halliday doubted, even while he promised to tell Simon at once should anything enlightening come his way. Angela's letter, written the day Nick's was, but, as usual, too late to catch the boat, arrived four days later in the mail that brought another to Gay. Angela wrote:

Just a line to let you know that I'm off with the Myers on their yacht "Sea Bird." We're to cruise for a couple of months, so I can't tell you where to write if you want anything of me, which isn't likely anyway. Might try Havana, and Nassau, and there's anything to say. We'll end at Miami, but goodness knows when. It may interest you to know that Nick Hastings has joined our party. I'll wire when we land—not that it will make much difference to you now that you've found another inamorate."

Halliday's brow drew into a puzzled frown; then cleared at the thought that she was referring to small Martha. The note said little more, and he sighed as he laid it down. For years he had scanned Angela's hasty letters eagerly, seeking a word of tenderness that never came. The thing was a habit now. He had ceased to care for tenderness from her; yet the ghost of their dead past still had the power to hurt him.

Nick wrote:

Dearest, In an hour we're off. I'm as excited as a kid at his first Christmas tree. The yacht, "Sea Bird," is a beauty—eighty feet long—white paint—brass rails—mahogany trimmings, and all the fixings you read about in fiction. The party consists of Mr. and Mrs. Myers whom we met last summer; their little girl; a sick-looking old corpulent lady (they picked him up at the Titchfield, I believe), Mrs. Halliday and myself. Honestly, Gay, save for Mrs. H. and the kid, it's not a very congenial-looking crowd. But I shan't mind. It's places, not people I'm after."

Talk about "the ends of the earth!" We're to cruise among the Bahama Islands—the outer Bahama, many of them uninhabited. Send your letter to Nassau, not Havana. They've decided to drop me in the island, where I can catch the Royal Mail for New York. I'll wire on landing, but this is probably the last letter you will have. Think what a whale of a lot we'll have to talk about! And how I wish you were going, too!

Five weeks later, on a morning when Gay was wondering if her telegram would come that day, as indeed, she had been wondering for the last week, Sonny appeared at breakfast and handed her the morning paper. She opened it idly, waiting for Uncle Sim to come in from the garden, before she poured his coffee. Sonny ran out to call him, and baby Nick was busy with his oatmeal.

The room was very still. The rustle of the newspaper as Gay spread it open was the only sound, until the baby set up a sort of sing-song that he and Sonny had been chanting for the last week.

"My daddly tummy soon—my daddly tummy—my daddly tummy—"

The baby stopped; Gay had uttered a little moan, the frightened him. She was staring at the paper, reading with blurred eyes the words:

Terrible hurricane in the West Indies and Bahamas. Many small boats go down. United Fruit from Port Antonio makes difficult headway against the storm. No word of the "Sea Bird," a gasoline yacht owned by George M. C. Cullen and Pasadena, which left Kingston more than a month ago for a cruise among the outer Bahama. Last wireless from them was picked up at Key West, twenty-four hours from the storm. On board, besides the crew, were Mr. and Mrs. Meyer, their ten-year-old daughter, and Mr. James C. Halliday of Boston, Colonel Charles Nowell of Cincinnati, and Nicholas Hastings.

There was a crash of breaking china, and a howl from little Nick. When a moment later Uncle Sim and Sonny rushed in, the baby was screaming with fright, while Gay lay unconscious across the table.

Canadian Citizenship

Bill Before Commons Sets Forth Qualifications For Canadian Nationality

Second reading was given in the House of Commons to the government bill to define Canadian nationals and to provide for loss or renunciation of Canadian nationality. Sponsored by Hon. C. H. Cahan, secretary of state, the bill sets forth definitely the qualifications for Canadian nationality, and also the process whereby a national of Canada may lose or renounce his nationality. Mr. Cahan intimated that the bill, if passed in the form presented to the House, might necessitate some amendments to the Immigration act. As the law now stood, said Mr. Cahan, a man who left Canada for a trip, and was delayed over a year, had to make his way into this country in just the same manner as an immigrant from Siberia or Turkistan. Missionaries who went abroad to pursue their calling, were away a considerable period, and sometimes brought up families in a foreign country, could not claim Canadian nationality for their children.

German Battleship Slides Down Ways Before Being Christened

Germany's first "pocket battleship," known as the Emseck Freussen while under construction at Kiel, launched herself, sliding down the ways six minutes ahead of schedule while Chancellor Bruening was still far from the end of his christening address and before President von Hindenburg could hurl a champagne bottle against the warship's bow.

Sixty thousand looked on in astonished silence, forgetting to cheer until just as the bow settled into the water.

"Deutschland be thy name!" President von Hindenburg called after the rapidly receding ship, while the champagne bottle dangled aimlessly in the air before the christening stand for a few seconds and then fell to the ground, unsmashed.

Investigation has not yet determined whether one wire of the cables holding the ship fast parted or some one gave the signal to upbake the last check too soon. Naturally, much uneasiness exists among Kiel sailor folk over what is technically an unchristened ship.

Little Helps For This Week

"Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye stedfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord." — 1 Corinthians xv. 58.

Though scoffers ask where is your gain, And mocking say your work is vain, Such scoffers die and are forgot, Work done for God, it dieth not.

Press on! press on! nor doubt nor fear, From age to age this voice shall cheer.

Whatever may die and be forgot, Work done for God, it dieth not.

—Thomas Knox.

When men do anything for God, the very least thing, they never know where it will end, nor what amount of work it will do for Him. Love's secret therefore is to be always doing things for God, and not to mind because they are very little ones.

—Frederick William Faber.

Intending to motor in to town one afternoon last week, Mr Hy Schellenberger went out to start his car. On cranking, the engine started; but as the machine had been left in gear, the machine jumped forward, pining Mr Schellenberger to the wall at the far end of the garage, with the bumper against both legs. His shouts brought help, when he was released from his awkward position.

Joe Kulak's House Burns.

About 1.30 Saturday morning Mr Joe Kulak was awakened by the noise of something falling, and found his house full of smoke. On further investigation he discovered the kitchen to be afire, and it was the noise of the kitchen chimney falling which had awakened him.

Hastily arousing the wife, they got the two children to a place of safety. Joe called to his hired man who was sleeping in an annex, and the two began trying to save some of the furniture. An auto from Kenn's garage, Edmonton, with three men in it, happened to be passing at the time, and the blaze attracted the attention of the men, and these were of great assistance in helping to save the contents of the house.

As the fire had gained such headway, and there was nothing with which to fight the blaze, no effort was made to extinguish it, and it burned for some ten hours further.

The combined efforts of the five men prevented the blaze from spreading. The residence is a total loss, with about $500 insurance in the Wawanesa Co.

Review of Some Budget Items

Taxing every single item of food, clothing or other commodities imported into the country by a 1 p.c. excise tax, quadrupling the sales tax that every consumer in Canada must eventually pay; re-establishing the 3c. postage; and increasing the tariff on over 200 items, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett brought down his budget last week in the Commons. It was not a poor man's budget.

The elimination of the 3c postage two years ago was hailed with satisfaction thru-out the country. It is back again like a bad penny—the extra cent which must be affixed to every letter mailed in Canada.

The income tax was changed in the lower registers, the exemptions having been increased from $3000 to $3500, but the middle income people have had their taxes increased while those who are really rich get off easy. The former income tax schedule went up to 45 p.c. The new schedule stops at 25 p.c. Nothing, of course, has been done about the wealthy people who evade taxes by holding among themselves about $825,000,000 tax free bonds.

The nuisance tax on checks has been expanded, and instead of small checks up to $10 being exempt, they must carry a 2c stamp, so that the householder with a mail income who pays his little accounts in checks must be taxed every time he gives a check

Accident to Mr. Henry Goerz

Mr Henry Goerz is convalescing at his home from an accident which occurred last week while hitching his four-horse team to a plow. One of them shied and kicked back, striking Mr Goerz. He was knocked out for a short time, and was found by one of the family, who had gone out to look for him when the horses returned without their driver.

More Wheat Held This Year.

A comparison of grain holdings in country and government interior terminal elevators on May 8th last shows that there was nearly two million bushels of wheat more being held on that date this year than was the case on the same date in 1930. These figures were given out by W H Blatchford, the assistant grain commissioner, Calgary.
